From traditional Vietnamese dishes to unique local specialties, Lang Son offers a diverse range of culinary experiences. In this article, we will take you on a gastronomic journey through the region and introduce you to some of the top specialty dishes that are sure to tantalize your taste buds.

1. Banh Cuon Lang Son

Banh Cuon Lang Son is a quintessential dish of the region. These delicate rice noodle rolls are made with a thin batter that is steamed until translucent. The rolls are then filled with a savory mixture of minced pork, wood ear mushrooms, and other vegetables. When served, the rolls are topped with a generous amount of fried shallots and a drizzle of fish sauce.

2. Pho Chua

Pho Chua is a unique noodle dish that is only found in Lang Son. It is made with flat rice noodles that are cooked in a flavorful beef broth. The broth is made with beef bones, spices, and a hint of sourness from Chinese black vinegar. The noodles are topped with tender slices of beef and a variety of herbs, including cilantro, mint, and onions.

3. Cha Ca Lang Son

Cha Ca Lang Son is a popular grilled fish dish that is served with rice noodles. The fish is typically marinated in a mixture of spices, herbs, and fish sauce. It is then grilled until cooked through and slightly charred. The fish is served with a variety of dipping sauces, including a spicy fish sauce and a sweet and sour sauce.

4. Banh Xeo Lang Son

Banh Xeo Lang Son is a Vietnamese pancake that is made with a batter of rice flour, turmeric, and coconut milk. The batter is cooked in a hot pan until crispy and golden-brown. The pancake is then filled with a mixture of pork, shrimp, and vegetables. It is served with a variety of dipping sauces, including fish sauce and sweet and sour sauce.

5. Com Lam Bac Son

Com Lam Bac Son is a traditional Vietnamese dish that is made with sticky rice cooked in a bamboo tube. The rice is mixed with various ingredients, such as pork, mushrooms, and vegetables. The bamboo tube is then sealed and cooked over a fire. The rice is cooked until it is tender and flavorful, and the bamboo tube gives it a unique smoky aroma.

6. Xoi Tram Bac Son

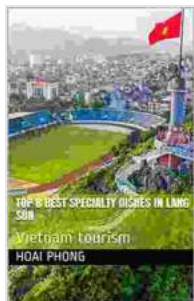

Xoi Tram Bac Son is a type of sticky rice that is cooked with black beans and peanuts. The rice is steamed until it is tender and sticky, and the black beans and peanuts add a nutty flavor and texture. Xoi Tram Bac Son is typically served with a drizzle of honey or a sprinkle of sugar.

7. Banh Gai Bac Son

Banh Gai Bac Son is a traditional Vietnamese rice cake that is made with glutinous rice flour and a variety of herbs and spices. The rice flour is mixed with water and then shaped into small balls. The balls are then steamed until they are cooked through. The cakes are then filled with a sweet bean paste and served with a drizzle of honey or a sprinkle of sugar.

Lang Son is a culinary paradise that offers a diverse range of specialty dishes that are sure to delight your taste buds. From traditional Vietnamese dishes to unique local specialties, there is something for everyone to enjoy. So
