

Save the Dream - March on Washington Time Force

In the summer of 1963, a group of young people from all over the country came together in Washington, D.C., to march for their dreams. They were tired of being treated as second-class citizens, and they were determined to make a change.

The march was a success, and it helped to change the course of history. It inspired people all over the world to fight for their rights, and it laid the foundation for the civil rights movement.
